

ELIZABETH SNODGRASS is counsel in the international arbitration group at Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer LLP in London. She has advised on more than thirty-five investor-state and international commercial arbitration matters, including ad hoc arbitrations and arbitrations under the ICC, LCIA, UNCITRAL, SCC and ICSID rules with particular focus on the energy and extractives sectors and disputes involving states and state entities. For five years, Liz taught the International Arbitration course on the LLM Programme at University College London and she regularly speaks on arbitration and international law topics. She received her law degree from the University of Virginia and thereafter served as law clerk to Hon. J. Harvie Wilkinson, III, then Chief Judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 4th Circuit. In addition, she has Bachelor of Civil Law and Master of Philosophy in Law degrees from the University of Oxford, where her research focused on international investment law.
